INITIATIONS MARK HOMECOMING DAY

Football Game Against Baldwin-Wallace To Entertain Alumni

Saturday, October 17, is Homecoming Day for Kenyon College. The many alumni returning to the Hill for this occasion will be entertained by a football game in the afternoon, and the various fraternity initiations and banquets in the evening.

The opponent in the afternoon's contest will be Baldwin-Wallace and, since the teams seem to be fairly evenly matched, the game should be interesting and well worth seeing.

This evening will be the culmination of a most trying period for thirty-three men who will at that time be received into membership in one or another of the various fraternities on the Hill. Beta Theta Pi will initiate seven men, Delta Tau Delta six, Sigma Pi five, while the rest of the national fraternities and Zeta Alpha Society will receive four men each.

The following is a list of the pledges to be initiated, arranged by chapters:

Delta Kappa Epsilon

Bernard Dall DeWeese, Jr., Shaker Heights.

Franklin Albert Hardy, North Muskegon, Mich.

Robert Denfeld Hudson, Benson, Minn.

TWO NEW PROFESSORS ON HILL THIS YEAR

Professor Coffin Returns After Year of Study

The personnel of the faculty of the College remains practically intact this year, the following changes being the only ones made during the summer:

Charles M. Coffin, Assistant Professor of English, has returned to the Hill after a year spent in graduate study at Columbia. George M. Kahrl, Professor Coffin's substitute last year, is continuing his work at Harvard.

Charles Theodore Bumer has been appointed Assistant Professor of Mathematics, replacing Bruce Redditt who resigned to continue graduate study at Johns Hopkins. Dr. Bumer has for several years been Assistant Professor of Mathematics at Ohio State University.

Forrest E. Keller, Assistant Professor of Economics, has been granted a leave of absence for the year 1931-32 to study at the University of Chicago. During this period Professor Keller's place will be taken by Russell Larcum.

Miss Frances Hobart, who has had much valuable experience in laboratory work, has taken Mrs. Maude Spooner's place as Assistant Librarian. Mrs. Spooner resigned last spring.

Mauve Downs Ashland In Well-Played Game

MacNamee Goes Well In His First Full Battle

Kenyon won its first football game in a year at Ashland last Friday evening by defeating the Ashland College eleven by a 7-2 score. The lone touchdown was made by Hiller who plunged through the center of the line from the four-yard stripe in the third quarter. Ibold kicked goal. Ashland's two points resulted from a blocked kick that rolled over the end zone before it could be recovered. This happened in the second quarter when Kenyon was forced to punt from behind its own goal line. However, the kicker was smothered and the ball flew back outside.

The Purple had several chances to score, but was not successful until the third period. Stock brought the ball to the twelve yard marker from where it was bucked across by Hiller. Hiller's plunge was good from (Continued on Page Two)

THREE CLASSES HOLD ANNUAL ELECTIONS

At a recent meeting of the senior class the following officers were elected: Bob Swanson, President; Charles Stires, Vice President; and Richard Hutsinpillar, Secretary and Treasurer. Mr. Stires was President of the class last year.

The sophomore class held their election early in the school year and chose the following men: Bob Hudson, President; Richard Ewalt, Vice President; and Jim Wood, Secretary and Treasurer.

The freshman class organized last week and selected these leaders: Les Wood, President; Bob Macdonald, Vice President; Burt Hathaway, Secretary and Treasurer.

The present junior class is not as yet organized.

SIXTY MEN PLEDGED IN FALL RUSHING

Last Thursday marked the end of the regular fall rushing period which had been moved up two weeks in order to do away with rushing before Homecoming and fraternity initiations. Rushing was a particularly serious thing this year on account of the low registration, and the various chapters on the Hill went after it tooth and nail. There was much talk of a fire hazard in East Wing, tuberculosis wards and high pledge fees in Leonard Hall, and a $15,000 legacy in West Wing, but in spite of all this some sixty men pledged to one fraternity or another.

Delta Kappa Epsilon took in six men:

George W. Blake
William S. Daly
Charles D. Heald, Jr.
Charles H. Lippincott
Benjamin A. Park
Edward M. Quinby, III
Twelve men pledged Alpha Delta Phi:

Dick Allen
Al Braddock
Laurence Burns
Bill Conover
Tom Griffith
Bill Keller
Bob Macdonald
Phil Page
Leonard Parnell
Nicholas Todd
Roger Walton
Henry Wilcox.

Psi Upsilon pledged five men:

Jack Critchfield
Robert Langford
Robert Rowe
Edgar Worthelmer, Jr.
Robert Elder

BISHOP T. I. REESE, TRUSTEE OF COLLEGE, DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

BISHOP T. I. REESE

BRITISH PEER TO BE LARWILL LECTURER

To date the Larwill Lecture Committee has arranged definitely with only one man to appear in Gambier this year, according to Professor Cahall, a member of the committee. This man is Sir Norman Angell of the British Parliament. His lecture will be some time in January, and will concern the current British government.

Dr. Cahall states that the committee is considering several other men as possible lecturers, and that they will doubtless heed the request made them last year and bring at least one man of scientific prominence to the College.

DIOCESE

Mourns Death of Bishop-Coadjutor

The Right Rev. Theodore Irving Reese, Bishop-Coadjutor of Southern Ohio and one of Kenyon's most devoted friends among those not listed among the College's alumni, died October 13 at his residence in Cincinnati. He was 58 years old. Death was due to paralysis.

While his only Kenyon degree was an honorary one, that of Doctor of Divinity, conferred in 1913, Bishop Reese served as a trustee of the College for many years. His visits to the Hill were frequent, his acquaintance among alumni was wide, and his activity in the interests of the institution was constant.

During the year preceeding his death, Bishop Reese suffered five strokes. His long illness followed a nervous breakdown, superinduced by overwork, and forced him to retire from his post. But until his health failed Dr. Reese was a prodigious worker in behalf of the Episcopal church, of Kenyon, and especially of Bexley Hall.

At the 1913 commencement, when the Doctoral degree was conferred upon him by the College, Bishop (Continued on Page Two)

KENYON LOSES TO ST. XAVIER IN FIRST TILT

Cincinnati Team Surprises Everyone With Its Power

The Kenyon football squad received a severe trouncing in its first game of the season at Cincinnati where St. Xavier University was victorious by the score of 41-0. Although the Purple has shown some improvement over the form of last year, it still could not cope with the hard-hitting attack of the opponents. Doped as inferior to the team of last season, St. Xavier surprised everyone, even Coach Myers, by its brand of play in the second half. Although the Down-Staters scored twice in the first half, the two teams battled on even terms. The second half was a track meet with Pennington and Beckwith scoring points on dashes. These two starred for St. Xavier. Sammon did the best work for Kenyon. However the work of the sophomores who received their college football baptism was also outstanding. Swan, Hudson, Thompson, Ibold, and Hillier were in the starting line-up. Sutton, Garfields, MacNamee, Tritsch, Hammond, and H. Johnson also saw service. There were only four seniors in the game and all four are (Continued on Page Two)

DETAILS OF UNDERGRADUATE LIFE MADE KNOWN

Record of Rutherford B. Hayes Presented in Associated Press Letter

(The following article, presenting little known details of the undergraduate life of Rutherford B. Hayes, should be of particular interest to entering men taking the Freshman Lecture course—Editor's note.)

New light on the undergraduate life of President Hayes, Kenyon '42, is presented in a feature article distributed by the Associated Press to Ohio newspapers holding memberships in that news service.

J. H. Galbraith, of Columbus, who compiles a daily letter for the Associated Press under the heading "Historic Ohio," said in the article published August 29:

"The record of Rutherford B. Hayes as a student at Kenyon College suggests that if he had been an Ohio State University student he would have made Sphinx and not Phi Beta Kappa. He was not a brilliant student, but a good one. He played hard and studied hard and seemed as anxious to have a good time as he was to get an education. He was at once the skating champion and the debating champion. He was a lover of hunting, fishing and swimming, and he knew the hills, woods and streams about Gambier, probably better than any other boy in his class.

"The principal of the Eastern academy where he prepared strongly urged Yale for him; but, though a few hundred dollars would have made enough to meet his expenses at Yale, his family decided that Kenyon should be his college—a fact that showed how closely finances were watched in the Hayes home, and how well the family liked to have him near home. At the Christmas vacation in his freshman year he walked from Gambier to his home in Delaware, and made the return trip in the same way. The fortune of his wealthy uncle, Sardis Burchard, was at command to finance his education, but even at that it was the Hayes way to in-cultate habits of thrift and economy with education.

"Games of all kinds he enjoyed, though college athletics as it is today was not known then. The out-of-doors he loved, and his habit of spending much of his leisure in the open had a splendid effect upon his health. A classmate writes of him that he did not recall that Hayes was ill one day in four years he spent in Gambier.

"In spite of the fact that he was not an outstanding student, so far as class rank was concerned, he was chosen to deliver the valedictory at commencement. Possibly his general standing was considered, or perhaps his popularity determined it. Here, again, the stern frugality of the family cropped out, for it was remarked when young Hayes appeared as valedictorian he was dressed in an ordinary business suit with a sack coat, while all the other members of the class wore frock coats made for the occasion."

BISHOP REESE

Reese was the junior members of the House of Bishops. Prior to that he was known to Ohioans chiefly as a Columbus rector who had served the state as a member of the old Board of Arbitration by aiding in the settlement of the Columbus street car strike of 1910. But Kenyon alumni soon learned to know him as a friendly man of strong personality and profound scholarship.

Bishop Reese was born in New York City March 10, 1873. His father and grandfather were clergymen. He was a direct descendant of Robert Livingstone, who came to New York in 1654 and became Lord of Livingstone Manor. On his maternal side his grandfather was an older brother of Washington Irving, a supporter of the great writer when times were hard. Hence the Bishop's middle name, Irving.

The future Bishop was educated in St. Paul School, Concord, N. H.; in Columbia and Harvard Universities, and in Germany. He organized his own parish in 1896 while a student in Cambridge Theological Seminary, then at Milton, Mass.

He started his work in a second-floor hall. To this mission he gave his first energies, became its rector and stayed with it ten years, leaving a flourishing congregation.

In 1899 he married Miss Louise Comins, Boston. He is survived by her and by their two children, Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George P. O. Bishop, New York City and Theodore, a junior in Yale.

In 1907 he accepted a call to become rector of Old Trinity Parish, Columbus. It was from this parish that, after six years of outstanding service, Dr. Reese was called to become Bishop Coadjutor of the Episcopal Diocese of Southern Ohio. He was elected in December, 1912, at the annual convention of the diocese, to help Bishop Body Vincent.

In October, 1929, when Bishop Vincent submitted his resignation, this automatically advanced Bishop Reese from Coadjutor to the titular leadership of the diocese.

One of the things he treasured most was his American Federation of Labor card from a union as a master machinist.

Governor Judson Harmon appointed Dr. Reese to the State Board of Arbitration, and he became chairman of the board. Governor James M. Cox renewed the appointment.

Many times he shared his salary with his clergy.

When the United States entered the World war, the Episcopal Church thought so much of the young Bishop that he was made chairman of the Church War Commission, and in that capacity he visited every cantonment in the United States.

He was for nine years a member of the general governing body of the Church between its triennial national conventions. He was a member of the Church Pension Fund Executive Committee and chairman of the National Student Commission.

In Lent, 1927, after the national "Bishops' crusade," when he visited every church in his diocese within a short time, he was sent to a hospital for treatment. When, preaching in the Church of Our Savior, Mt. Auburn, Cincinnati, April 28, 1929, he suffered a stroke of paralysis, but insisted upon completing his confirmation service in a chair. Though failing in strength, he persisted in trying to serve from his bedside by telephone, correspondence and prayer.

Bishop Reese felt that, because of the many years Bishop Vincent had given to the diocese as its head, the latter should continue as Bishop and Dr. Reese as Coadjutor. For eighteen years they worked together in Southern Ohio.

The passing of Bishop Reese advances to the vacant post Bishop-Coadjutor Henry Wise Hobson, elected more than a year ago to take up the work of his stricken colleague.

starting their third year of college competition.

In spite of the large score finally rolled up against Kenyon, the team did play very good football at times. The first half was evenly fought and at no time did the St. Xavier outfit badly outclass the Mauve. The Purple nearly scored in the first few minutes of play when the ball was carried to its opponent's fifteen yard line. However, a pass was grounded in the end zone and St. Xavier took the ball on the twenty yard stripe. Never after that was the ball near the goal. The first touchdown was made by Beckwith after a thirty-two yard run.

Pennington made the second touchdown soon after the opening of the second quarter. The extra point closed the scoring for the first half. During the rest of the period Kenyon's goal line was threatened several times, but Stock's well-placed punts drive St. Xavier back each time.

The second half was entirely different. Immediately after the kick-off St. Xavier began a drive that except for one exchange of punts was not stopped until the goal line had been crossed. The rest of the game was the same drive over and over again interrupted occasionally by a few Kenyon gains and punts. The superiority of the Musketeers in the second half is shown by their twenty-eight points and Kenyon's failure to make a first down.

Kenyon made a poor showing during most of the game, but at times it demonstrated that against teams of its own class it can be counted upon to make a favorable showing. The experienced gained in this first contest should prove of definite value during the rest of the season.

ASHLAND GAME

the four yard stripe on the fourth down. Ashland began a drive then from her own territory that was stopped short of Kenyon's goal line by two feet. A punt was followed by another attack, but this too was cut short. It was in this latter part of the game that Ashland chalked up so many first downs. She made fourteen to ten for Kenyon. However, all of her gains were made in mid-field and none near the goal line. Kenyon really deserved to win for it had the punch to put the ball across and still enough reserve to hold off Ashland's two desperate attempts to score. First downs made in mid-field mean nothing without power near the goal lines. And Kenyon had it once.

Berry and Thompkins starred for the Ashland team. The bright spot of the Kenyon club was MacNamee, sophomore quarterback, who started his first game. He led the team surprisingly well and ran nicely, but his best work was his punting when rushed by several Ashland gridders. Only once did he have trouble and then it was that Ashland scored her two points. The team as a whole played much better defensive ball than it had one week before, but still it could not gain ground as it should. In the two games played this season there has been a minimum of blocking, but it showed much improvement over that displayed against St. Xavier.

The student body turned out almost to the man and was amply rewarded in seeing the Mauve crash through with its first victory since the Haverford win last season. However few saw that contest so this was the first victory seen by the students for two years.

The following paragraph was taken from Dr. Peirce's message in the Alumni Bulletin for October and is reprinted here to show the students what the College expects from the Alumni with regard to the rule against intoxicants.

"The college rule forbids, under severe penalty, the keeping or drinking of intoxicants on college premises and imposes similar penalties for intoxication in Gambier or elsewhere during the college year. For the enforcement of these provisions the co-operation of the alumni is earnestly invited. With college students the influence and example of alumni is usually decisive. If returning alumni will scrupulously observe the rule and encourage student obedience to it, efficient enforcement will be made far easier. A wholesome regard for the good name and future welfare of the college dictates such co-operation and I appeal with confidence to the loyalty of Kenyon's sons.

William F. Peirce."

Judge Cuff, who is 42 years old and married, received his judicial title on the Municipal Court bench at Toledo. He served one year. A native of Napoleon, he was graduated from the law school at Western Reserve University after completing his course at Kenyon.

During the World war period he was a special agent of the Department of Justice, and later Assistant United States Attorney for the Northern Ohio District serving three years after being appointed by President Wilson. He is a Democrat.

Two brothers of Chairman Cuff also attended Kenyon. They are William A. Cuff, '10, Toledo and Fred V. Cuff, '15, Napoleon.

'13—Fred G. Clark, '13, Cleveland oil man, has been reelected to the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association.

College-trained engineers revisit the athletic field

ON more than a hundred floodlighted fields, football is being played and practiced in the evening hours, before larger audiences than ever before—with fewer injuries and in better conformity with classroom duties.

This constructive revolution in athletics is largely the work of college-trained engineers— young men personally familiar with the needs of college and school. They are dedicating the technical experience gained in the General Electric Test Department to the practical service of undergraduate athletics—designing and installing floodlighting equipment for virtually every sport—football, baseball, hockey, tennis, and track.

Other college men in the General Electric organization have specialized in street-

lighting and floodlighting projects, or in the electrical equipment of industries and mines or of immense power stations; some are designing and applying electric apparatus to propel ocean liners and locomotives. All are engaged in the planning, production, or distribution of G-E products and so are performing a work of national betterment and creating for themselves recognized spheres of personal influence.

Well, well and well. Here we are back at the old grind. Chapel goes on, classes go on. Uncle Bobbie still goes on. And the liquor problem is still a problem. Someone told us that Doc Lord indulged in a little game of golf the other day along with a couple of lads from Middle Hanna. No events, except that Rich fanned a putt. We're still trying to find out whether he counted that on his score or not. It would seem that Harcourt is still in existence. And the old faithfuls of last year are still very much in attendance. Did you see our football game at Ashland the other night? If not, you missed a swell time. And a swell game. Bud MacNamee is turning into a right nice quarterback. And Dude Stock and Marty Sammon are as good as ever. Looks as tho we might win a few games this year. We hear that Bud Perebee, the great silent man of the Class of '31 is a night police reporter for the Milwaukee Journal. Which should be quite startling news to those who knew him. Understand that most of Russ Hargate's spending money goes for long distance calls to Toledo. When these preachers get it they surely get it hard. Mr. Ashford has swung right back into his old form. He has already threatened to throw fifteen men out of his class. Wonder when the Dekes are going to get their remodeling done. Mike Westrich is looking a bit pale after his accident this summer. Johnny Craine is still doing a good job of batting out the hymns every morning in chapel. We have heard that there is a handsome young gym instructor at Harcourt who is willing to take on all comers at golf. Now don't rush fellows. It seems that everyone will be going to his own class dance at least this year since they decided to put the tax on the term bills. That sounds like a good move to us. Most of the upper classmen on the Hill look as though they were the ones who are going through an initiation. At least we know several who will be glad when it is all over. This is about enough of this stuff for this time. If we have missed any dirt we'll dish it out next issue.

POPULAR GAMBIER MAN SEEKING REELECTION

George Evans, purveyor of steaks extraordinary, sandwiches extraordinary, and line extraordinary, wishes it announced that he is seeking reelection to the position of Treasurer of the City of Gambier. George says he is for free beer, free love, free everything except gingerale and ice. He hopes that every loyal Kenyon undergraduate will turn out and vote for him whether it be by honest means or not. This is not a political advertisement.

Ohio leads all the states in the number of colleges. It has 41. New York has 40, Pennsylvania 38, and Illinois 23.
